Shaping a new North

Labour claimed a landslide victory in the election, but will it be able to deliver on the promises in its manifesto? And what does a new government mean for the North?

Join Place North for a night to remember as we question and debate with political and business leaders about the economy, housing market, and regeneration - and evaluate the government's performance after its first 100 days.

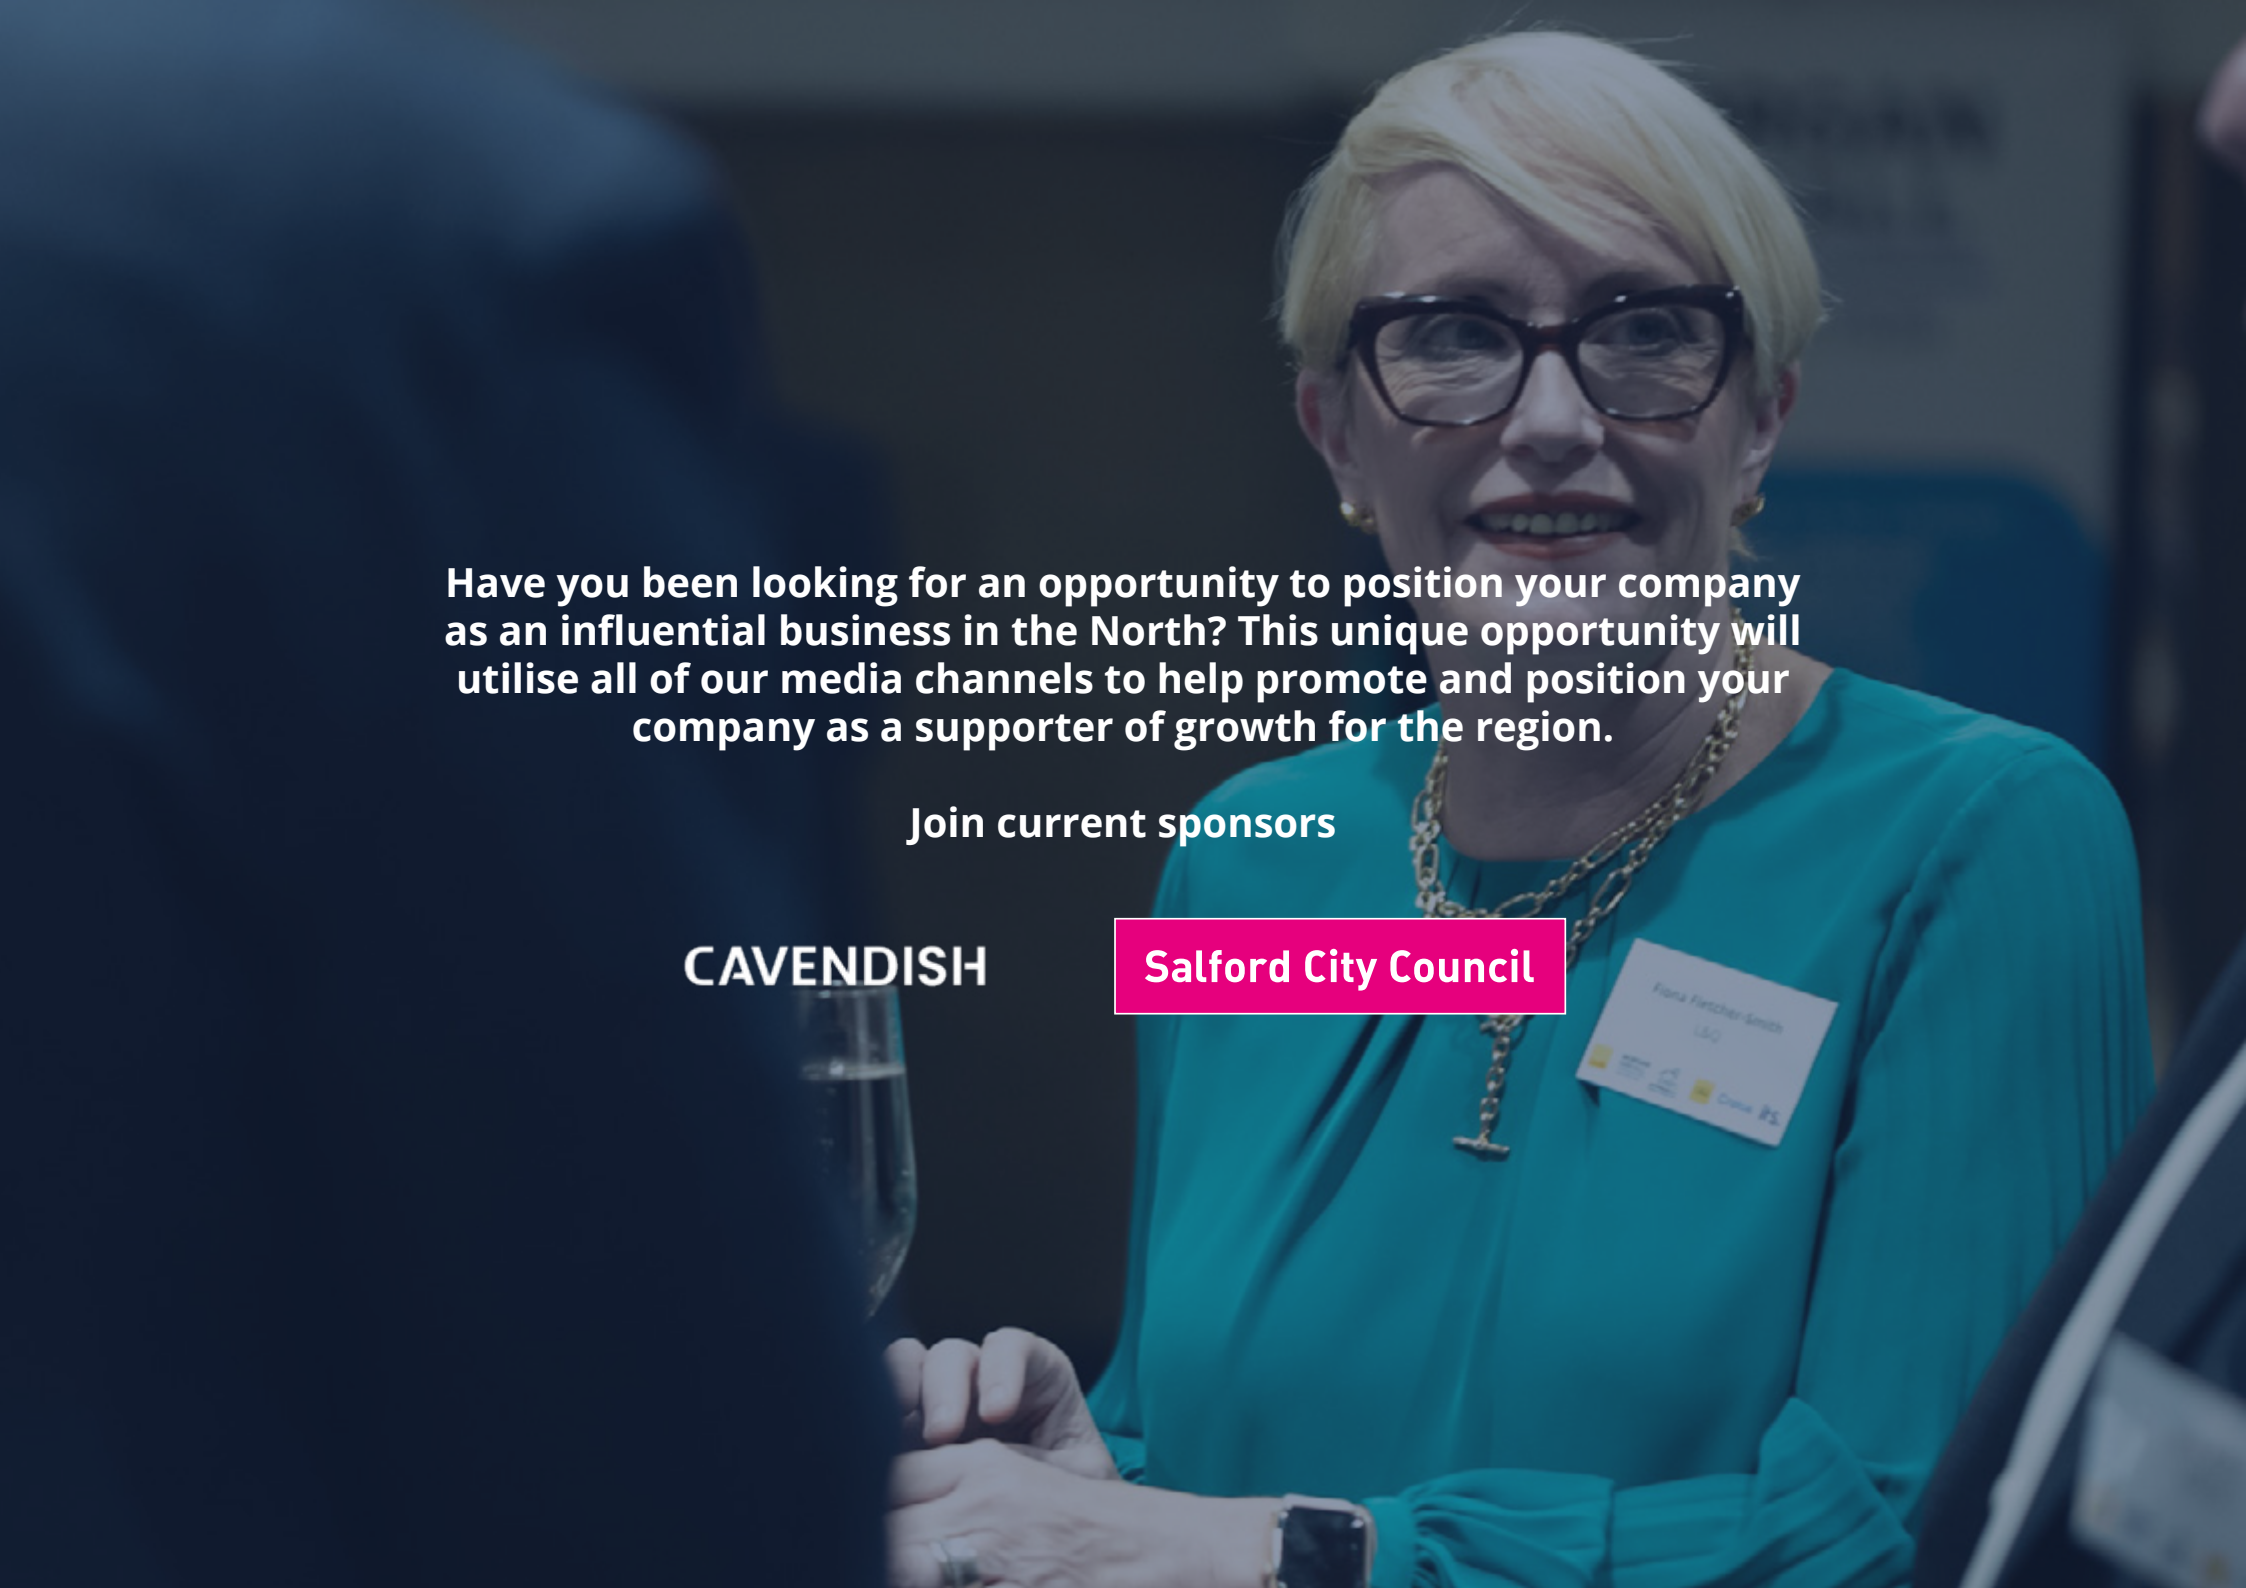

A man and a woman are engaged in a conversation at what appears to be a professional networking event. The man, on the right, is wearing glasses, a dark suit, and a white shirt with a tie. He has a name tag on his lapel that reads "David Phelan" and "Greater North West". He is holding a small glass with a drink. The woman, on the left, is seen in profile, wearing a dark top. The background is slightly blurred, showing other people and what might be a bar or reception area. The overall lighting is soft and professional.
